EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING

Students may earn credit for experiential learning as part of their required and elective courses. Experiential learning includes community service learning, community-based action projects, and/or independent research projects. Generally, experiential learning opportunities are embedded in the curriculum and students engage in such hands-on learning through course assignments.