

WOMEN'S STUDIES MINOR

The interdisciplinary minor in Women's Studies provides an opportunity for students to examine women's roles, contributions, and status in social and cultural contexts and to investigate a variety of disciplines from feminist perspectives. Students will gain a breadth of knowledge regarding women's issues and an understanding of the legal, moral, and political issues confronting women today. In addition, skills including critical thinking and the ability to question prevailing assumptions will be developed, thereby promoting social responsibility. Students can choose from a variety of courses and also have the option of pursuing community service/internship for credit. Liberal Studies and Psychology Program faculty serve as advisors.

Requirements for the Women's Studies minor are as follows:

Code	Title	Hours
Select five courses from the following:		15
ART 250	Women in Art
CMS 303	Gender and Communication
ENG 200	Women in Literature
HIS 320	The History of Women in America
HIS 321	Women and War: Warriors, Victims, and Peacemakers
HUM 266	Women in Islam
PSY 310	Human Sexuality
PSY 330	Psychology of Women
SOC 210	Marital and Family Systems
SOC 305	Domestic Violence
SOC 310	Race, Class, and Gender
Community Service/Internship with a Women's Organization
Total Credits Required:		15